

Dr. M. John Cava

John travels around the world, speaking on missions, encouraging ministries, and training new workers. He is Founder/President of the World Outreach Center in Fort Mill, SC. Along with his wife, Joanne, John has four children and eight grandchildren.

A Change of Seasons is Good

We have quite a paradox in our Christian life. God has committed to transform us into the image of His Son. He has also told us to go into all the world to preach the gospel. Yet at the same time, most of us do not cope that well with change. It is certain that whatever God does is good. Are you ready to embrace a change of ministry, or location, or anointing, or position or season of life?

During these months many of our missionaries and friends are experiencing transition. Something has happened. It could be their season of doing a certain work is over. The grace is gone – the fruit does not come anymore. It is time to move on. Another start over is ahead.

We need to let go of the unfinished or finished past and put it in God's hands. You may be called to plant or water, while someone else will reap. Is the wisdom of the Spirit saying "move on" or "new wine skin required for the next season?" Be obedient. All things in God's kingdom change, except Him.

Here are some examples. Our wonderful assistant, Jennie, is getting married and moving to Italy. Other missionaries are changing ministry focus. We are even seeing different workers open up mini-businesses.

God is doing a work in us while we are doing a work for Him. Lean into the transitions of God with joyous expectations. It will go better for you. Money, children, relationships will somehow work out. Consider Jonah's reluctance and his experience.

We at World Outreach Center are poised for God's open doors and new beginnings. Fear is not an option. Let Him take you into a new horizon. Even if it looks like an initial cut-back or pruning, much fruit will come. God is with you in this next season and so are we.

God bless you.

John

Dear World Outreach Family and Friends:

We are pressing towards summer. In the near future, it will be 2020 AD. Wow! Who thought the world would be in whirlwinds of constant change. We are alive and participating in it. And for sure, each of us can make a difference.

Our hearts are to collaborate with you for the end-time harvest. Please stay with us as we voyage into the world and continue the harvest of the nations. It is still on the heart of God to "seek and save" those that are perishing. Your support makes a big difference.

Enjoy the updates and articles in this issue. The times are changing, but we can also change the times for those we touch.

Grace and love,

The World Outreach Center Team →

WOC Around the World: From USA to Italy

Jennie Huyett WOC Liaison to Europe

I first went to Italy in 2002 with WOC missionary Leia Girard and stayed with missionaries Scot and Jeanie Ford. It was a tremendous experience, meeting Christians in many parts of Italy and being baptized in the Holy Spirit.

I continued to be discipled in my home church and served missionaries, as I was able, while finishing university. I served in the Ladybug House, a maternity home ministry, in my home city of Wichita, KS and made many trips to Italy and other countries. In 2014, I moved to Fort Mill, SC to serve more directly in missions support at World Outreach Center and work with John and Joanne Cava - until the Lord would send me out.

Juarez, Mexico

Five amazing years with John and Joanne have been invaluable, and the WOC community has been a great place to be among so many who love and support worldwide ministry.

Varese, Italy

During my time with WOC, I have traveled to many locations to assist with outreaches, love on and encourage our missionaries.

On my tenth trip to Italy, to a new location for me, a friendship developed with Julen Mendizabal, a faithful member of the church in Varese.

Thailand

With missionaries from USA, Thailand, Italy, and Brazil

Julen moved to Italy from Mexico to earn his engineering degree, and has lived and worked there ever since. He has had the call of God on his life for Italy and the nations even from several generations back. Over the past year, Julen and I have sought the Lord for His plans for us. Following our wedding on June 21st, in KS, I will be moving to Italy with Julen for the next part of our journey. We are both excited to be a mission team in a country we love. →

Julen and Jennie

From the WOC Office:

We are so excited for Jennie and Julen and all the Lord has in store for them. To prepare for the wedding, Jennie moved back to Wichita in April. We have certainly missed her in our day to day activities.

Join us in prayer for all their documentation and plans to go through smoothly. →

Italian Pastry Café Night at WOC

We love when the globe gets folded a little, and the continents intersect – culturally speaking. This happened in April when Italian missionary Ciro Saggese brought one of his friends and church members to Fort Mill, SC and hosted an authentic Italian Pastry Tasting Café at World Outreach Center.

Federico Sepe is well known for his pastry shop in Naples, Italy. His family has been in business there for many years. Federico is exploring the possibilities of opening a café in the Charlotte area in the future. We certainly enjoyed his talents and pastries! →
